ANNUAL JUDGES NIGHT

An Evening of All Things Polish

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 2022 • 5:30 PM
POLISH MUSEUM OF AMERICA, CHICAGO, IL

On Thursday, October 20th, the Advocates Society returned in-person to the beautiful Polish Museum of America at 984 North Milwaukee Avenue in Chicago for our Annual Judges' Night. More than 214 attendees, including more than 77 current and retired esteemed members of the Judiciary. We enjoyed draft Pulaski Pils beer from Maplewood Brewery, Kasia's extensive buffet, and sweets from a local Polish bakery (Kolatek's at 2445 N. Harlem Avenue) that "makes me feel I'm in Krakow" said Alon Stein. Jet-set Mixologist DJ Miller (staff from late Mid America Club) created a bespoke cocktail "Szarlotka" (apple pie) with Zubrowka (bison grass vodka), apple juice, and cinnamon which was inspired by his travel through Poland last year. President Audrey Cosgrove, First Vice President Ann Melichar, and Judge Timothy C. Evans were interviewed by Polish television Polvision there for a report on the association's mission and history of the event.

Letter from Madame President

AUDREY V. COSGROVE

Dear Members,

As I enter 2023 as President of the Advocates, I notice that our group has become more relevant and important for us than ever before. I've come to regard our Advocates network as one of the best bar associations of its kind. We are a group that provides abundant opportunities to learn, teach and mentor. We are a group that enables us to give back to our community, meet, network, and socialize with friends and colleagues from every area of law.

The changes around us—whether social, political, pandemic, or economic related—require that we help our clients and employers navigate through new and increasingly complex legal landscapes. In many instances, we are responsible to help shape those new legal landscapes. Our terrific Advocates community of professionals is a network on which I have become increasingly reliant when facing these new challenges and opportunities.

I'm proud of our group's successes over the last year, particularly in providing more opportunities for meaningful engagement of our members, introducing innovative programming topics, and providing professional development and community outreach opportunities. In the year ahead, I am certain we will continue these initiatives, as well as adding programming designed for the different stages of your career, virtual programming, and events held in collaboration with other bar associations.

Thank you, members, for your continued participation and enthusiasm in our professional community.

Wishing you a good and successful 2023 and looking forward to seeing you soon.

Audrey V. Cosgrove

Advocates Abroad

The 2022 FIFA World Cup in Qatar

Advocate Iwona Przonak, with her husband and two boys, made the long 13+ hour flight to Qatar to support USA and Poland soccer teams.

Advocate Przonak enjoyed Qatar's handling of the World Cup. The locals welcomed fans with open arms and curiosity. Rich culture, beautiful weather, theme parks, shopping, and dining destinations makes Qatar a very attractive place to visit.

Infrastructure and hospitality developments continue to take place at a rapid pace in Qatar and are set to continue beyond the World Cup as Qatar Tourism works toward its longer-term strategy of attracting six million visitors by 2030. Around 10,000 Polish fans were reported in Qatar. With the extraordinary help from Polish Soccer player, Robert Lewandowski, Poland has given its fans some thrilling moments at the 2022 World Cup. Go Poland!!

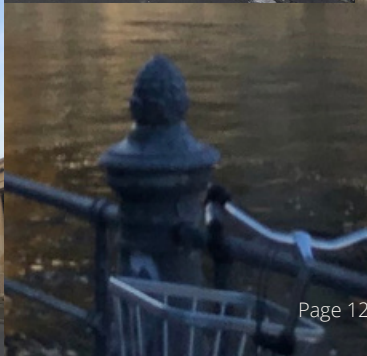

Advocates Abroad

Student Advocate David Blondin, who is a 3L at DePaul, went to study abroad in Europe. Below he shares his experience, as well as his opportunity to travel to Poland.

This current semester I had the opportunity to study tax law at Vienna University of Economics and Business (Wirtschaftsuniversität Wien, WU), in Austria, as part of an exchange program with WU and DePaul University College of Law. I have been able to study not only how a different system of law works, but how that system interacts globally through a system of treaties. Outside of class I have been able to explore Vienna, a truly world class city, different parts of Austria, and even took a trip to Berlin.

Over our Christmas break I will have the opportunity to tour Poland. Aside from seeing the popular destinations of Warsaw, Krakow, and Gdansk, I will have the ability to visit the village one set of my great-grandparents from Poland grew up in near the Belorussian border. Having the opportunity to visit Poland made me dive into my family history and understand the risks my family took to escape the Soviet Union Gulag system to come to America. I even got to have a conversation with my great-aunt on her 99th birthday to discuss my family's tale of escape which made me feel grateful beyond belief to have had the opportunities to grow up in the United States, and proud to come from a Polish family that risked life itself in order to provide for future generations. It has made me motivated to finish law school strong to make them proud and to provide an example for future generations of lawyers of Polish descent.

Pictures are from Berlin and a village overlooking a lake near the Salzburg area. The statues are of Marx and Engels. There are two pictures of David and the Berlin Wall. The last two are of the Brandenbrug Gate and Reichstag Dome.

Chicago Park named after Jewish Author and Poet, with Polish Roots

Advocate Associate Mark Dobrzycki, along with Merry Marwig, Daniel Egel-Weiss, Jacob Kaplan, and Daniel Pogorzelski were part of a five-person committee. Over the past two years, the Committee collected signatures of neighbors of the Chicago Park and gained support from various organizations. They petitioned the Chicago Park District to rededicate Kolmar Park to honor Gertrade Kolmar, a Jewish poet who was born in Poland and murdered in the Holocaust. Kolmar's surviving work consists of 450 poems, 3 plays and 2 short stories. The park (4145 N Kolmar Ave, Chicago) was originally named for adjoining Kolmar Avenue, which had been named for a European city located on the border between France and Germany. Park advocates hope this park will remind us all to embrace diversity and promote peace.

A Polish Christmas Eve Dinner with Makowiec

By Kathy E. Bojczuk

With Christmas just around the corner, it makes me happy to anticipate gathering around the Christmas Eve table with loved ones and enjoying delicious Polish food, especially the wonderful desserts. One of my favorite deserts is the Makowiec, a cake with poppy seeds. (And yes, many of those seeds will get stuck in your teeth!) Although poppy seeds are not widely used in the United States and are not a common dish during the Holidays, it is very popular Eastern and Central European pastries, especially in Austria, Hungary, Germany and Poland.

In Poland, there can be no Christmas Eve without at least one roll of good Makowiec on the dinner table. But you can also buy these goodies throughout the year in Polish bakeries. The dessert goes well with a cup of hot tea or a coffee!

Although I have never attempted to bake any Polish dessert, I will make a commitment this year to make my own Makowiec. I challenge you to join me. Here is an authentic Polish recipe I found. I hope you enjoy it!

Ingredients

For the dough:

- 500g flour
- 30g fresh yeast
- 125g butter
- 2 eggs + 1 for cooking
- 125g sugar
- 1 tsp vanilla sugar or vanilla paste
- 120ml milk
- A pinch of salt

For the poppy seed filling:

- 400g poppy seeds
- 200g sugar
- 3 tbsp honey
- 2 egg whites
- 50g butter
- Some raisins (optional)

Instructions

- Rinse the poppy seeds, cover them in boiling water and let sit for a few hours or overnight.
- For the dough, mix the yeast into 2 tbsp of warm milk and add a pinch of sugar. Set aside for 5 minutes.
- Stir flour, salt, sugar and vanilla sugar in a bowl.
- Melt the butter and add it to the bowl.
- Add the two beaten eggs and the yeast mixture.
- Add the milk, a little at a time, stirring continuously. You have to end up with a flexible but not sticky dough. You can add a bit of flour if needed.
- Knead the dough as a bread dough during 20 minutes.
- Cover the bowl with a wet dish towel and let rise until doubled in size for about 2 hours.
- While the dough rises, strain the water from the poppy seeds using a fine strainer.
- Grind the poppy seeds in a clean electric coffee grinder or a food processor. As poppy seeds are very thin, you should get the best results with a coffee grinder, but you will have to process in batches and it will take time. You have to end up with a smooth and homogenous poppy paste.
- In a food processor, mix sugar, honey, egg whites, butter and raisins with the poppy paste.
- After 2 hours, punch down the dough, and divide in two.
- Roll each piece until 1-2 cm thickness and make a rectangle.
- Spread half of the poppy seed filling in each rectangle, avoiding the edges.
- Roll up on the long side and pinch to seal the dough and avoid the filling from leaking out.
- Preheat the oven to 175°C (350°F).
- Put the two rolls on a baking paper, seam side down.
- Brush with the egg beaten with a bit of water.
- Bake for around 40 minutes.
